History: There are over 100+ acres of Passaic River floodplain and uplands, formerly farmland, pasture, golf course and riverside wetlands, acquired in 1980 at no cost, through density modification and gift. There are over two miles of mostly level, moved trails loop along all edges, across central meadow sections, around two large open ponds and along the berms of the river edges. Short Blazed side trails access 3 small woodland ponds and three steel bridges over Cory’s Brook. Relax in the new gazebo or on several benches located throughout the trail.

This is a free event although pre-registration is requested. Children under 18 must be accompanied by an adult.
